

Lagardère to acquire French online agency

PARIS: Lagardère, the largest publisher in France, agreed to buy the French online marketing agency Nextedia for as much as €100 million.

After an initial cash payment of €50 million, Lagardère will make two additional payments, dependent on profits, in 2011 and 2013, up to a maximum €50 million, the company said. (Bloomberg)